

Playtech and TruNarrative join forces on safer gambling

Online gambling technology giant and risk and compliance specialist to deliver global compliance platform to gaming industry.

London, 17 December 2019: TruNarrative, the global market disruptor in risk compliance and transactional monitoring solutions, today announces a new partnership with Playtech, the world's leading gambling technology company, in which they will deliver a global compliance platform to the gaming industry.

The partnership is formed in the context of increasing global regulatory requirements and challenges faced by the industry to build cost-effective compliance capabilities, whilst remaining adaptable to changing regulations and risks in multiple jurisdictions.

Playtech's customers can now benefit from a single platform to manage customer risk, which includes: Age & Identity Verification, Document Validation, Safer Gambling Services, PEP & Sanctions Screening and Ongoing Monitoring.

Operators using Playtech's IMS platform can now use the TruNarrative solution via a direct integration and multi-brand risk management strategies can now be built from within a single platform.

Ian Ince, Head of Regulatory Affairs and Compliance at Playtech, said "The increasingly complex regulatory framework is the single biggest challenge facing gambling businesses operating in regulated markets. This partnership will help operators answer this challenge."

Anthony Evans, VP of Product Strategy at Playtech, said "In linking Playtech's core gaming products and its BetBuddy safer gambling analytics software with TruNarrative's compliance platform, we are enabling operators to access a unique safer gambling solution."

Adam Doyle, Head of Gaming at TruNarrative, said: "We are excited to be working with Playtech and are looking forward to delivering truly innovative customer onboarding, safer gambling and risk management solutions to its partners."
